ABBE GEORGES DE NANTES – WORLD WAR III

Have you ever received something in the mail and then when you opened it and started to read it, found that you just couldn't put it down until you had read it from beginning to end? That happened to me awhile back when I received from England a translation of a speech delivered November 22, 1980 in Paris, France by the Abbe Georges de Nantes entitled AGAINST THE WAR. Some say that history may remember that in the Autumn of 1980 on a calm and particularly warm evening, two thousand French Catholics of the Catholic Counter Reformation and French Counter Revolution from Paris and the provinces of France, together with five hundred others drawn by curiosity at the twenty thousand posters plastered on the walls of Paris, came to hear the Abbe de Nantes speak of the imminent Third World War, of its religious and political causes and of the forces pushing peoples into it. I had originally intended to share some major and dramatic portions of this momentous speech with you in this issue. Due to a lack of time and money, I will only be able to share with you a few brief excerpts:

"Western Europe today is in the same situation as were the small, unviable, undefendable states of central Europe, Austria, Czechoslovakia and Poland in 1938-1939, on the eve of a gigantic Munich whereby the Anglo-Saxons will let her fall, regretfully! Regretfully! into the hands of Russia. One final detail: "According to General David Jones, commander-in-chief of the United States inter-armies, the Soviet threat will become absolute around 1981-1982 when Soviet missiles will have acquired quantitative supremacy." (Paulo de Castro, SALTII, Europe sacrificed, Confidential n.3, p.13.)

"It is impossible for a Catholic, be he colonel, window-cleaner, peasant or priest, unless he is affected by liberalism, which is an irremediable hardening of the heart, not to think instantly of the message of FATIMA, as he reflects on Soviet imperialism, the Russian power, the Russian Danger, for in the FATIMA message is precisely the question of RUSSIA! . . . Here then is the Divine plan for our depraved and pround XXth century, a plan which the Most Blessed Virgin revealed to the three little children of Fatima to be made known to the world. It has three parts . . . There is a secret, The Third Secret, known to the Popes since John XXIII and which was not to be made public "before 1960". Twenty years have already gone by since that date and still the secret remains hidden, buried in the Vatican. If it is harmless, why all this concern to have it forgotten and silenced? If it is important, if it is terrible, especially if it is terrible, the world must know it! . . .

AVE MARIA

"Our century is that of the Apocalypse. A country such as France has to learn to live serenely with the permanent threat of its annihilation. It is better to resign oneself to the inevitable rather than disguise the facts or lie to oneself. But the worst is not certain and there is a way of making it less and less threatening . . . "

TOM ANDERSON -- GRADUATED INCOME TAX IMMORAL

I subscribe to and enjoy reading Tom Anderson's weekly publication STRAIGHT TALK. More Christians should speak out like he does:

"The progressive income tax is immoral, counter-productive, unconstitutional, and unbiblical. God only requires ten percent, why should government take up to 70 percent? The progressive income tax kills the incentives of some of our most productive people, who retire instead of giving more jobs to more people. Nowhere does our original Constitution justify taking from the haves to give to the have-nots. We sorely need a Constitutional amendment limiting the income tax to a maximum of ten percent, for rich and poor, with no exemptions. Presently much of the top fringe, the super rich with their tax shelters, pay little or no tax. And the poor pay none. Everybody should pay the same percentage....."

BISHOP HASTRICH -- NOT LIKE MOST BISHOPS.

Since the March issue of the SDCN (Sangre de Cristo Newsnotes) went to press I have had the pleasant occasion to dine with Bishop Jerome J. Hastrich, the friendly and conservative Bishop of the diocese of Gallup, new Mexico. We have since been carrying on a frank and friendly correspondence.

HELP!!!

The latter part of May I mailed out some 900 letters explaining the bind I've found myself in. I easily had on hand and set aside for this issue material enough for 28 or more pages. As you see, I've cut it down to 16 pages. It is going on midnight now (May 21st) as I compose this section. My printers, Alan & Susanne Boyce, are making a special trip up to Westcliffe tomorrow to pick up the photos and paste-ups. They are willing to go ahead even though I still owe them several hundred dollars for the printing of the last issue. If God wants me to continue putting out this publication, I'm sure He will provide the appropriate benefactors. Well, too, I suppose I could go back to 8 pages and probably make ends meet okay. Believe me I can find plenty of of other things with which to occupy my time. It has just seemed to me over the past years that there was a need for a publication such as this. I think there still is! But to keep it going and to make improvements I'm going to need lots of help.

WORDS OF WISDOM

I will pour out doctrine as prophecy, and will leave it to them that seek wisdom, and will not cease to instruct their offspring even to the holy age. See ye that I have not laboured for myself only, but for all that seek out the truth. -- Ecclesiasticus 24:46-47.

Honour thy father, and forget not the groanings of thy mother: Remember that thou hadst not been born but through them: and make a return to them as they have done for thee. With all thy soul fear the Lord, and reverence his priests. With all thy strength love him that made thee: and forsake not his ministers.--Ecclesiasticus 7: 29-32.

Have pity on thy own soul, pleasing God, and contain thyself: gather up thy heart in his holiness: and drive away sadness far from thee. For sadness hath killed many, and there is no profit in it. Envy and anger shorten a man's days, and pensiveness will bring old age before the time. A cheerful and good heart is always feasting: for his banquets are prepared with diligence. --Ecclesiasticus 30:24-27.

Last June the historic Westcliffe Hotel burned to the ground. It was a hot one! If there had been any wind a number of businesses and houses would have probably gone up with it. The owner, Mike Pearl, lost several thousand dollars. Insurance only covered a small part. Mike was the first baseman (and a good one!) on our softball team last summer. He has since bought the 1887 Vincent's Apts. building a block north of my place. He is remodeling it and plans to make it his home. Glad to have you as a neighbor, Mike, and hope we get on the same softball team again this year.

Here's a bit of nostalgia. I think it was the summer of 1969, a year after I was ordained. I went with my cousin Bill Bouchard from Los Alamos, New Mexico on a weeklong jaunt into the rugged San Juans near Durango. We discovered a lake that was a trout fisherman's dream—three miles from the nearest trail and full of two to four pound natives. I was fishing here with two flys and a bubble. I put a hook on the bubble and whamo! was bringing them in three at a time. We only kept what we could eat and released the rest.

Here's "Big Fish" lake in the Sangre de Cristos. It's a rough one to get into, but it sure has produced some nice fishing. A mountain lion lives up there. He has "stolen" a few of our big ones when we left them out over night. Larry Senderhauf came face to face with him last summer. He didn't stick around long enough to exchange pleasantries, Larry didn't, the lion stayed right where he was. Those 19 to 23 inch cutthroat trout on the right came out of a neat lake in Montana last summer. It's a 26-mile hike round trip, but well worth it!

ONE VOICE

GET WELL—STAY WELL

by

Clifford F. Thomallo
Post Office Box 337
Powers Lake, North Dakota 58773

You can be well, you know—no matter what the pain, the discomfiture in your life...for it's natural to be well, unnatural to be otherwise.

How can I be so sure?

This wise:

The body of man was designed by OMNISCIENCE, the all-embodiment of perfect knowledge, wisdom. Omniscience is a divine mark of unblemished PERFECTION. To say or posit otherwise is to contradict one's self—which is self-evident. Being cannot be finite and infinite at the same time: Perfection cannot be imperfection—nor can it give birth to imperfection.

Man's body was designed and created by Perfection which does not—cannot—permit a defect to blot its form—its blueprint...Could this be permitted would be to admit a nullification of divinity itself.

Now: Since Perfection—Omniscience—cannot admit imperfection in its creation, it follows that the design of man is a perfect one.

If this be so—and logic tells us that it is—then man's body is a being made to function normally perfectly, which, in a word, spells HEALTH according to the divine blueprint.

But you say that men's bodies are not always functioning normally perfectly, that millions—billions—of these so-called perfect bodies suffer illnesses, diseases of a thousand kinds. Is this not a contradiction in itself?

Only an apparent one—as you will see.

Omniscience in His divine wisdom, imbued each human with a will free to choose its route in life while yet subject to the laws inherent in its being. If I may use an allegory of the secular order—which never quite satisfies in an attempt to explain the divine order, for if it did, this too would be a contradiction in as much as this would be saying that finite being—the secular—is capable of that which belongs only to the infinite: Only Omniscience can explain the essence of divine attributes...But to the allegory: The Red, Green, and Yellow, of a traffic semaphore, are all attributes of the law and the design engineer who drew the plans and gave them a binding significance.

So with the law of man pertinent to his health which was born of divinity—Omniscience.

But just as some men will disregard the law built into the semaphore—resulting in a crash, a loss of life and car, or maiming, as a consequence, so there are men who disregard the law, the rules, that tell men how to live.

Just as your car, designed to use gasoline as fuel, will not run normally perfectly on oil, so your body, designed to use certain foods as fuel, will not run normally perfectly—healthfully—when you feed it garbage.

These facts should not be difficult to understand—nor to accept—yet there are billions who are sick either in ignorance of the law, or in a total disregard of it. How often do I hear humans cry:

"Why? Oh, why, this aching head, this paining back, this burning inside of me? Why? Oh, why?"

...and ignorance or disregard are no excuse for immunity to the law of health—the perfect design... nor will ignorance or disregard excuse a man and save his life, if he's lost the meaning of the Red in the semaphore.

Again: The law of health—just as the law of the semaphore—does not change to accommodate a careless, thoughtless one who seeks convenience in a law that has none to give.

How often do I see the strained breathing of men and women—young and old—with smoking cigarettes hanging from their lips! How often do I see children of ages four or five or six, with mouths already filled with caries!...and I find these some sucking candy sticks, munching cookies, all day long—and ofttimes without a mother's care. These "goodies" are substitutes for food and care.

Observe the grocery carts spilling from the super stores: Packs of sugar drinks, colored to fascinate the palates and addict the taste buds of the young and old alike; observe the packaged cereals in the carts, the delicious sundries—substitutes for food. Observe, if you will, the prepared lunches, snacks, and dinners, packaged beautifully in enlivened, colorful, and enticing wrappings. Read the fine print almost hidden in their couching.

If you're sick and would be well, reflect a moment on the blueprint of man's design meant for health and happiness... Yes, happiness too is in the plan... but it does not follow logically that a well body is always a happy one, for the body of man is not the whole of man without the soul of him.

Could Omniscience—Perfection—design a body of a perfect man and yet have him miserable at heart? There are many such bodies, you know, surrounding us with their miseries—well bodies, sick hearts...and often they—and we—wonder why this is so.

I'll tell you why:

It's because they're addicted to the "goodies" of evil, that make them will against the law—the same law that gives them freedom to choose their lot in life: happiness and goodness and kindness and beauty—or misery, meanness, thoughtlessness, ugliness.

How often have I heard people say:

"But the things I enjoy most in life are all these things that you imply—and they are illegal, immoral, or bad for my health. What am I to do?"

The answer, of course, is a simple one:

"You have a choice to make: Health or illness. What do you prefer? Both have their demands in appetite."

I find that most people who come to hear me lecture, asking my advice, are really looking for a panacea that will insure good health while they continue in their sins of flesh—and there is no such medicine.

For the believer who is sick, the directive to health will not be difficult to recognize:

"And God said, behold, I have given you every herb bearing seed, which is upon the face of all the earth, and every tree, in the which is the fruit of a tree yielding seed; to you it shall be for meat."

(See your Bible: Genesis, Chapter One, Verse Twenty-Nine.)

There it is. Straight from OMNISCIENCE: Vegetables, herbs, fruits, nuts. These only shall be your foods. All others are substitutes.

To the non-believing sick, there's another answer whose premise is a different one, but whose logic is the same...but that's material for another article in "ONE VOICE."

You can be well, you know—for it's natural to be well, unnatural to be otherwise.

URSULA OXFORT COMMENTS ON VATICAN II

For $5 a year one can get six CCR Bulletins a year from Miss Ursula Oxfort at 2600 - 6th Ave. South, Lake Worth, Florida 33461. She seems to be one of the few writers who has a knack for getting down to the nitty-gritty and unearthing an often overlooked fundamental cause of the continuing terrible crisis in God's Church:

The "particular purpose" for which Vatican II was set to function by Pope John XXIII is, as its fruits have shown, catastrophically antichrist. This fact is confirmed today by THE REMNANT, where a German theologian writes:

"If one investigates the conditions of our congregations carefully one cannot escape the conclusion that the Council and the post-conciliar period were the Stalingrad of the Catholic Church, i.e. a gigantic miscalculation and a frightful catastrophy." (Rev. Dr. G. May, Ibid., 7/31/80).

Now how can a Council that quite obviously was a "gigantic miscalculation and a frightful catastrophy" be "interpreted according to tradition?" How can a Council that is programmed to destroy Catholic tradition be harmonized or "interpreted according to tradition?" What an absurd idea! Yet it is in the name of this absurdity that John Paul II has made the gigantic error of Vatican II the charter of his pontificate. (cf. Speech of November 5, 1979).

No doubt, the most frightful phenomenon in our time is that there is not one bishop in the universal hierarchy, who would openly insist on a re-examination of the reason, preparation and aims of Pope John's Council. Even Msgr. Marcel Lefebvre, inspite of his suspension "a divinis," continues to promote the error that Vatican II is convoked according "accepted norms" of the Church. (cf. Inerview with Msgr. Lefebvre, THE REMNANT, 2/17/77). I wish the editors of THE ANGELUS would tell us what these "accepted norms" are. Why do certain writers of this traditionalist organ, who so loudly claim to be the most fearless champions of the truth, refuse to see the fact that Pope John's Council has no other raison d'etre than false mysticism? It had to develop into a frightful catastrophy. It had to grow into an evil tree from which dropped the most anti-traditional and antichristian fruits.

PARITY OF RITES

by Father Oswald Baker
The Presbytery; Downham Market;
Norfolk, PE38 9AB, England

What is the likely outcome of the recent enquiry ordered by Rome, now called the Knox Letter, into the extent of popular demand for the restoration of the traditional Mass? One priest has predicted that we shall have the Mass back in our churches in a matter of weeks.

Our Letters to Downham Market and other sources tell of increasing abhorrence of the new 'Mass'. There can be little doubt that at the root of these protests is the realisation that the new 'Mass' is wrong. The reason for the Knox Letter may well be that Rome became uneasily aware of the protests. The Letter was dated June 19th, 1980. Very little was heard of it until September. Christian Order of January, 1981, challenged the bishops on their inactivity. Meanwhile The Universe conducted an enquiry of its own, which revealed a widespread preference for the restoration of the traditional Mass. One bishop wrote an angry letter complaining that the ballot was "unnecessary, uncalled for, divisive, and likely to be misleading." Some critics saw in the bishops' seeming contempt for any such survey an attempt to conceal their guilt in having discarded the true Mass and with it the Catholic religion, substituting a new religion and so creating an unprecedented division of Catholics. The late Archbishop Dwyer (U.S.A.) wrote to Paul VI testifying that very few bishops now teach authentic Catholicism. Archbishop Lefebvre warned the world that the Catholic Church has been infiltrated and occupied by imposters, posing as shepherds, but in fact avowed enemies of Catholicism. The vast majority of Catholics instinctively reject this judgement as too terrible to be true. Yet the evidence is terribly plain.

The Catholic Mass is directly opposed to all that the usurpers stand for. Their bitter hostility to the Mass is understandable. The traditional Catholic Mass enshrines and expresses all the truth and beauty of authentic, integral Catholicism. The traditional Catholic Mass was definitively legislated by Pope St. Pius V, in 1570, with the object of sealing out every possible heresy and doctrinal corruption. The 1570 law was enacted as permanent and irrevocable, not because the Pope so declared, but because its irrevocability was intrinsic to its very nature and purpose — the preservation, through the liturgy, of the Catholic Faith. The attempt to substitute a 'new Mass' straightway induced all manner of profanation, heresy, and sacrilege. The substitute 'Mass' denotes a radical departure from Catholic doctrine and Catholic practice. Gone are the altar, tabernacle, and Communion rail. Gone the six beautiful and profoundly significant Offertory prayers, which more than all else in the Mass indicate its sacrificial character, and initiate the Sacrifice. They have been replaced by a simple traditional Jewish blessing of the 'gifts'. The Consecration itself has gone, to be replaced by a narrative. The Sacrifice for the glory of God has been replaced by a meal for the satisfaction of the people. The new, false Mass is integral to the new false religion emanating from Vatican II, and integral also to the accelerating corruption of Catholicism.

Debasement and turpitude can rarely have been so rife. John Paul II was shocked and "alarmed by what he found in the United States: nuns refusing to wear their habits, priests petitioning for the right to abortion on demand and the right to celebrate homosexual marriages in church, bishops preaching Marxism, and open defiance of authority everywhere. Sister Teresa Kane, a publicity-conscious nun, greeted him in the name of American nuns wearing ordinary clothes — despite his express orders to the contrary — and subjected him to a strident public harangue on the need to ordain women priests." Fired by Teresa's example, her counterpart in Germany a few months later was even more aggressive and outspoken to John Paul II. Credit must be given for consistency. Teresa Kane and the rebel priests with their immoral pretensions are right. A 'Church' which tolerates advocates of birth prevention has no moral or rational ground for rejecting any other form of perversion. A 'Church' which replaces altar and priest by table and president has no moral or rational ground for excluding women from its 'priesthood'. A 'Church' which trifles with sacred law must expect to have its own authority flouted. Such is the 'Church' which has usurped the place of the erstwhile Catholic Church.

John Paul II in 1980 appealed to the bishops of the world to eliminate the more offensive and distressing features of the new 'Mass'. Some wistful Catholics promptly foresaw a possible return of the old Mass, to be tolerated together with the new. John Paul II has made it abundantly clear that he firmly and unreservedly supports the new 'Mass', and all else that was launched by Vatican II and Paul VI. Such an attitude seems scarcely compatible with any intention to restore the Mass. But, you ask, did not Paul VI, who actually instituted the new 'Mass', himself grant an indult to England for the old Mass? It is now widely acknowledged that Paul VI became notorious for saying one thing and doing the opposite. If you are suggesting that we may now see a repetition of the same pattern, you are entitled to your opinion. There is, however, a considerable difference between an exceptional indult for use in isolated instances, and a general concession for regular use of both the old and the new Mass. That is what is now proposed, and the proposition is not feasible. To advocate parity of the old with the new is to overlook their total incongruity. Neither does the Knox Letter suggest the possible restoration of the traditional Mass. The significance of the letter is made clear in its first paragraph, which states that the enquiry is concerned with "the implementation of the reform of the liturgy."

Loyal, clear-minded Catholics will insist that the new 'Mass' must be abolished, as a sacrilegious defilement of our churches. Parity of the old Mass with the new is impracticable and unthinkable. This is possibly the sole point of firm agreement between the true traditionalist Catholic and the thoroughgoing liberal progressive — such as Cardinal Benelli, who rejected Una Voce President's request for parity of rites with the blunt observation that the two Masses denote two different Churches. As with the Mass, so with the Church. The old Mass and the new are mutually exclusive. No single authority can reasonably sanction both. Neither, if you are a true Catholic, can you have any association with the new 'Conciliar Church', which represents a new, ecumenical, false religion. It is a satanic foundation, whose purpose is the destruction of Catholicism. Archbishop Lefebvre has candidly and dutifully asserted, "The Conciliar Church is a schismatic Church, because it breaks with the Catholic Church that has always been. It has its new dogmas, its new priesthood, its new institutions, its new worship, all already condemned by the Church in many a document, official and definitive. This Conciliar Church is therefore not Catholic. To whatever extent Pope, bishops, priests or laity adhere to this new Church, they separate themselves from the Catholic Church."

ANOTHER PRIEST SPEAKS OUT ON HEALTH

Mrs. Rose Steckel from North Hollywood, California wrote and said that I was only the second priest she had heard of who took a public stand on issues related to health and the natural law. She sent me a clipping from the November 1959 HERALD OF HEALTH featuring Rev. Lyle F. Sheen of Geneseo, Ill. He spoke at the easern convention of the National Health Federation in Chicago:

"The wrongs you are spending so much time and money to correct, also are grave and deadly sins against the wisdom and generosity of God," he declared. "Let no mocker scoff at these words as mere pietism of a religious fanatic. The laws of Nature are as validly divine laws as are the ten commandments. True science, as all truth, is of divine origin. We do not determine nor invent anything, we only discover the truth, or parts of it."

Father Sheen listed as "sins against nature" the following practices: Refining foods; "embalming" foods; pasteurizing milk; application of heat at high temperature to food; addition of sodium floride to water; production of hybrid corn.....

He urged his audience to "trust your own common sense." He said "too many have too great an admiration for college degrees, and are entirely too humble. Colleges have ruined more minds than they have made, and if they only knew it, most farmers are smarter than their advisors. Use your own intelligence, study nature, it is the work of God and will be your servant if you are His servant."

DMSO AND HAIR ANALYSIS

In February I attended a two day convention sponsored by the Degenerative Disease Medical Center, 1245 Las Vegas Blvd. South, Las Vegas, Nevada 89104 (702-384-0444 or 702-382-6222). Msgr. Raymond Ruscitto from California was also there. I had planned to give it a big write-up with pictures and all, but space does not permit. Also if the director, Mrs. Mildred Miller, had answered my letter asking if she would agree to give me a year's subscription to her PREVENTIVE HEALTH NEWS (@ $15 per Year) in exchange for a year's subscription to the SDCN (Sangre de Cristo Newsnotes), I probably would have given her a picture also in this issue anyhow Using DMSO, Laetrile, KH3, enzymes and diet following Dr. Harold Manner's protocol, they appear to have a very effective method of treating cancer, arthritis, and other degenerative diseases.

After the convention I drove on to Phoenix where I visited the ANALYTICAL RESEARCH LABS where I proceeded to have some of my hair analyzed. Their analysis showed that My body probably has a higher than normal amount of sodium, Potassium, copper and nickel, and lower than normal amount of manganese, chromium, lithium and silicon. The report they gave me was, of course, much more detailed, and showed the ratios of these and other minerals which could indicate that I have a trend toward such "metabolic dysfunctions" as anemia,

the promised land

by Teresa STANFILL BENNS

They oft repeat a legend of a city in the sea that lo was great and mighty; whose people all were free.

A statue made of iron stood with lantern raised up high;
to guard the rugged coastline and light the night-dark sky.

People of all nations, in great droves came to be citizens of this country; to drink of liberty.

This nation built by wise men was founded on a God to whom all paid allegiance; for twas His land they trod.

Proud people with a purpose, to be idle was disgrace;
each man looked to his talents; each woman knew her place.

The innovative flourished through free enterprise;
owing to his industry, any man could rise.

But any able-bodied man who could but did not work, was deemed unworthy of assist; his duty seen to shirk.

It was a good and goldy land, and so remained awhile;
but evil men with twisted minds seduced them with their wiles.

Those proud peace-loving people, so disinclined to war could not fathom hateful men, champions of the "poor"...

Who came to spoil the beauty of goodness, freedom, peace;
enslave the population, wage war without surcease.

Through lies and empty promises they slew the nations God;
with talk of "people power" and "brotherhood abroad".

All the proud free people threw away their treasure;
abandoned God and freedom; exchanged for sloth and pleasure.

And so the people's jealous God, remembered by so few,
sent them trial and punishment; the evil overthrew.

He cast down all His enemies, the good He raised up high;
gave them back the bleeding land where dead and dying lie.

He sternly then admonished them to always be aware of men who would do evil, their very souls lay bare.

He told them to rebuild the land, and promised to abide there with them for many years. "Great is our God!" they cried.

Some years hence He left them, when all wounds were healed;
the cities standing tall again, the wrongful laws repealed.

They say He passed the statue that in the harbor stood,
and on her brow emblazoned protection for the good.

A warning to all evil men, written in His hand:
"He pays with his immortal soul, who plundereth My land".

□ LETTERS TO THE EDITOR □

Dear Father Jones,

Your last two issues of your Newsnotes have been most interesting. I most certainly know what is being said.

I think we all had prayed for Pope John Paul II to make necessary changes but we have found there has been none. Sadly to say it leaves many of us with no Church to go go. I first could see what was happening in Salt Lake but it really became obvious in Durango.

Thank God for you and your efforts to put the message to Catholic people. I read and study each edition of the Newsnotes. They provide comfort, at least we are not alone. How I wish we were closer to you so at least we would have a Church to go to and know the truth is there.

We will be with you when you preside over "Easter Mass" even though we are far away. Please pray for us.

God Bless you at this time, Easter and always.

You are indeed a comfort to me. You are all we have for a communication for truth. Our Prayers are with you and for you.

Sincerely,

Dear Father Daniel E. Jones:

Thanks for your memo and return of my letter stating no more reprints of "Quo Primum" but enclosed copy "All Priests may continue to offer The Traditional Mass of the Latin Roman Missal". Returning the initial $2.00 which you should have kept as an offering plus a $5.00 to cover 40 extra copies of the above article.

In my opinion our religion has been shattered. From the very day that the leadership of the people as given by God turned their backs on the Altar and concluded unless the people had to be catered to in order to continue the practice of the Catholic Faith, etc. I, in shock, concluded that my parents could not have been wrong in their teachings. Not that I am so religious but every wakeful hour inasmuch as gratitude assures further benefits my constant prayers is "Thanks Jesus, Mary, Joseph, all Angels and Saints". Apparently it has never failed for after 25 years of Health Freedom choice in Louisiana, harassed, persecuted, because of a 60 year Medical Monopoly, I have had a most successful career (not financially abundant but sufficient) as a Doctor of Chiropractic, Natural Organic Nutritional; Biometric; atomic health researcher; having over many years provided care for more than 100 members of the Clergy, even into the Cloister Carmalite Convent before it was shattered by the bastard clergy.

Dr. F. Doughty Beck, D.C.,A.D. (sign)

Hi Father Dan,

Received your postcard today. Reading between the lines, I guess I didn't do anything to upset you. I'm sure relieved. I take it you're concerned about getting the newsletter out. Boy, I wish I had lots of money; you wouldn't have any problems.

May I offer a couple of suggestions? First, I'd ask the Boyces if they'd extend more credit and I'd cut the newsletter down to "bare" essentials and also cut back on the number printed. In the meantime, I'd get letters out to all who have not renewed and advise them that I couldn't mail this next issue with out help from my friends, and would they please mail in their subscription renewals by return mail. It looks like you're going to have to do some old fashioned begging to keep operating. Then, and here's where I get in over my head; I'd soft pedal a few of the more controversial subjects and get back to traditional basics. At least for now, I'd skip "Old Testament" things like "Swine", articles on that "Duck" printing (people are comparing it with JBS stuff). Go back to what was proven good; articles on the various Saints, what's happening in different groups, their progress, etc. Pictures of people who come and visit you. Go back and look over old issues before you climbed on everyone's soap box and you put out a "Dan Jones" newsletter. It's you people like, not necessarily all of your ideas. I care enough about you to voice my opinions and risk your punching out my lights.

The world is so full of controversy now that I think people are retreating from it into something safer and more secure. I realize you feel an obligation to educate us on what's happening but we (most of us, I think) need you to keep us on the right spiritual track and you'll have your hands full just keeping up with that.

If you know anyone with money, ask if they'll help you out. You have never "monied" people to death; there should be someone out there who can help. In the meantime, I'll get a Novena started, have mom say one to St. Theresa and talk to everyone I see about their subscriptions and see if I can get something going. Keep the faith, it will work out; I'm sure.

I can just see Father Connelly in 'ol Zeke. That must have been something. My bones hurt just thinking of it. Did you do any fishing yet? I'm getting so hungry for it, but I need a new reel before I can go. Will you still take me or will you throw me in after this letter???

Say 'hi' to Regina for me.

Hope the water I'm in isn't too hot. If there's anything I can do, please let me know. If you can use any of my suggestions, fine. If you'd like me to shut up and butt out, just say the word. I won't promise anything tho. I feel I have a bit of a stake in you and the newsletter. There are too few worthwhile things left.

Be good, I'll be praying for you (hard).

Evie

P.S. By the way, you've heard of One-A-Day Vitamins--would you believe One-A-Day Beer? I may never give up beer again and when I asked you if I should, you didn't answer so I'm really enjoying it.

P.P.S. Mom had a splendid idea. Why not have a column (a regular one) where people can have "Thanksgiving for favors received" published. Donations are sent in with the printed items. Do you know what I mean?

Also, you could publish "Important Dates", that is, Ember Days, Holy Days of Obligation, Days of Fast and Abstinence. Not everyone has regular opportunities to go to Church and these things are important.

One last thing -- I'll give up beer again until things work out for you, no matter how long it takes. And my novena will be to St. Jude, OK???

Evie

Been working in the yard the last 2 days and I bought an apple tree and planted it today. I feel marvelous. How I love Spring!

Dear Father Jones,

I would appreciate it very much if you would let me know what's untrustworthy concerning the priest at St. Mary's, Kansas. Is this priest Father Bolduc? Is it some other priest? I am quite concerned about this because I send monthly contributions to the Society of St. Pius X. If this outfit is not orthodox like it claims to be, I will stop as of now, sending money to them, AMEN. If you would enlighten me just a trifle I would be most grateful. I seem to live in a complete bubble. I never know what's going on.

I love your little paper "Sangre de Cristo Newsnotes". I especially enjoyed "A Christmas Story" by Teresa L. Benns. It brought the tears to my eyes. It was so heart warming.

I agree with you about the Jews, they are not Israelites and certainly are not God's Chosen people. I hope that someday people will wake up to the Jews and their war against Christ, decency, morality, and everything else that's good.

Please keep up your great work. I'm behind you in my prayers, and in the True Church of Christ.

May Jesus richly bless you always.

Most sincerely in Our Lady of Fatima,

P.S. Father, Please do answer this letter. God love you.

Dear Dan,

I was happy to receive your letter and the enclosures, especially the Ottaviani Intervention which I read with keen interest. Let me share with you that I long for the day when I can say the Mass approved for all times by Saint Pius V. I believe that time will be soon. My conscience will not permit any other course.

The Ariete publication is bold, forthright and I have every intention of subscribing to it immediately. At your request I herewith give you the translation from Spanish of Ariete's February 19, 1981 edition:

It is well known through the public statements made by Lefebvre himself that he recognizes the validity of the Novus Ordo Missae (New Order of the Mass) of Paul VI, the new Mass that is at once heretical, lacking in piety and, for that reason, anti-Catholic and for the same reason, unacceptable. Concerning this new mass, a group of cardinals and orthodox theologians of the Holy Church headed by Cardinals Ottaviani and Bacci stated in what is known as A Brief Critical Examination, given to Paul VI, that the new mass departs radically from Catholic theology and, in effect, nullifies transubstantiation. In this same letter from the cardinals and theologians to Paul VI, Father Gerard des Lauriers, a distinguished theologian, said that those who knowingly assist at the new mass commit a mortal sin. Fr. Joaquim Saenz Arriga, STD called the new mass in institutionalized sacrilege.

Lefebvre has publicly stated that John Paul II, the antipope and successor of Paul VI, the apostate, heretic, and schismatic is the legitimate pope. In the morning edition of the Mexico City Sun, dateline January 13, 1981, section A, page 10, Archbishop Lefebvre, in an interview with that newspaper's reporter, Jose Antonio Ruiz stated: I assert that Paul VI and John Paul II are faultless theologians.

The Catholic Union of Trent (C.U.T.), with justification therefore, accuses Archbishop Marcel Lefebvre of equivocation, duplicity, and betrayal of defence of the faith. This is the same Lefebvre who previously, in the firm orthodox faith, had earlier said that the new mass was LUTHERAN, and consequently, heretical, and anti-Catholic. He had, at that time, likewise stated that the new church of Paul VI was schismatic, apostate, and heretical. Now Lefebvre has made a complete about face.

He is then, one of the new church, and consequently seeks to be accepted by John Paul II who is himself in schism, apostasy, and heresy.

The C.U.T. gives public notice that, with God's help and when God wishes it, we will never be vanquished.. the gates of hell will not prevail against it.. that C.U.T. will struggle against Lefebvre who seeks to seize and gain control of church properties obtained in good faith by C.U.T.

These remarks were repeated in a television broadcast over Channel 13 on Saturday, January 17, 1981. Participants on the show included C.U.T. representatives: Father Adolf Zamora, Mr. Jose Zepeda, Mr. David Reyes and the Director of the Zacatezas newspaper Ariete.

☆ My Visit with GOD ☆

by Evelyn SPENCER

Do you ever get angry with God? I do. And usually for the most trivial of things, and then, like a small, naughty child, I yell, "You don't love me anymore", and I punish Him by not speaking to Him.

You don't do that. Oh, I'm glad to hear it. Because, when I do come to my senses again I feel so foolish and wonder why God puts up with me.

Recently, I had the opportunity to go on "retreat". Many people associate that word with turning tail and running away. But it also means refuge, sanctuary, a shelter. The world was going too fast for me these days. I was confused, upset and unsettled. I had to get my priorities in order. But, I couldn't seem to be able to talk to God, and if He were trying to talk to me, I'd certainly never hear Him over all this noise. So I determined to get away from it all.

I am fortunate enough to have a friend who has a quiet little house high up in the mountains. God lives in those mountains. I knew that the first time I went there, many years ago. And now, as I hurried up the roads, I knew I was hurrying to see God. Oh yes, I know God is everywhere; I had learned that as a child and I believed it. But this trip was to be special for me.

For years now, Lent had come and gone with little or no attention given to it by me. But now I had a sense of urgency. I still don't know why, but I was being reminded that God had given me many blessings throughout the years and if He decided to call in my IOU's, I'd be caught pretty short. It was time to dust off my soul, sweep out the cobwebs and get my house in order.

My friend was away and I had the house to myself. As I wandered through the familiar rooms, I spotted a little book entitled, "Introduction to the Devout Life", by St. Francis DeSales. I hardly expect I'll ever become devout, but this might be a good place to begin. My priest had suggested daily spiritual reading, if only one page, as a discipline, a habit to cultivate. As I retired that night, I was already receiving the fruits of this visit with God and would realize it even more in the days to come.

When I awoke in the morning (was it only 6:15?) I looked out the window to find it had snowed during the night. I grabbed my robe and slippers and ran out on the back porch. It was the most beautiful sight I had ever seen. The snow was a powdered silver, sprinkled over God's back yard like a soft blanket. The sun had not broken through yet, but the clouds hanging low in the mountains were pale shades of pinks and blues. I stood there taking in the welcome God had prepared for me until I was aware that the snow was penetrating my slippers and my feet were getting cold. St. Francis DeSales recommends the early morning hours as the best time for meditating and I can only agree.

The next days were spent getting reacquainted with my Father in Heaven and taking inventory of my life. I needed quite a bit of work to get back into shape, but I had made a start. Like so many of us, our intentions are good, but we're not disciplined enough to stick it out and we tend to become easily discouraged.

I hadn't been home too long when the pressures set in again and I began to forget my priorities. I had made Lenten promises and so far had been pretty faithful to them but now, things were going wrong. God was letting me down again. Well, I'd fix Him; I just wouldn't say my prayers.

I had not reckoned with the "little book" I'd carried home with me. I had become accustomed to reading at least "one page a day" and usually did so on my knees. It made me feel as if I were kneeling at God's feet and I could just rest my head on His knee if I wished. And of course, it wasn't the same as saying my prayers.

As I flipped through the pages, I rarely follow page after page, a sentence, underlined, leaped out at me..... "Because God has favored you". There was the answer to all of my questions; why did God permit me to suffer, to feel alone and lonely and to slip and fall so often. Now, I saw it clearly. God wants me to be worthy of His love and care. And it's so easy. He's right there within easy reach. I rested my head on His knee and told Him how sorry I was that I had doubted His love. He reached out, patted my head and I could hear Him say, "It's all right now," and I knew it was. And always would be. He'll always be there for me if I remember "Why".

Someday I'll visit Him in the mountains again, but for now I can be content in daily visits with Him wherever we find ourselves. Maybe, you can find Him, too.

fatigue, adrenal hyperactivity, hypertension, kidney dysfunction, diabetes, and a few other things. I've since decided to take some steps to try and get some of those minerals back into a better balance. Someone I plan to consult is Dr. William T Roush who has a chiropractic and intensive care clinic at 301 Colorado Avenue in Pueblo, Colorado (zip 81004 -- tel. 303-542-1399). I met him at the Degenerative Disease Medical Center Convention in Las Vegas, Nevada. He is a Catholic, and as I recall he said out there that he wouldn't go to any but the old Latin Mass.

Sister Rita Lawrence of Our Lady of Victory in Aurora, Colorado, also sent in a couple tablespoons of hair from the nape of her neck to the ANALYTICAL RESEARCH LABS and found out she probably has cadmium poisoning and is deficient in several vital minerals which may be tell-tale as to why.. well, maybe she will write a letter to the editor and tell you herself one of these days.

COLONEL JACK MOHR -- GOD'S CHOSEN PEOPLE

A couple years ago I had the pleasure of meeting Col. Jack Mohr at a John Birch Society Youth Camp in Durango. I was really pleased to read an open letter to Christian ministers that he he had written and which was printed in the March 16, 1981, issue of THE AMERICAN SUNBEAM (an interesting weekly paper put out by the Duverus Publishing Corporation in Seligman, Missouri 65745). Maybe in my next issue I will be able to print some significant portions of that excellent and fascinating letter. I must give you, though, at least a quick quote or two from it here:

"For over a year now, I have been deeply disturbed by what is happening in Israel and its implications for the United States. As a result, I have engaged in a lengthy and prayerful study of the Scriptures and historical documents dealing with these people we have been taught to regard as God's Chosen People.

"After over 600 hours of study concerning the Zionist Jew, I am convinced that these openly atheistic, Communist haters of God, Christ, and Christianity, are neither our friends, or the Chosen People of God....

"When I went to my pastor with these facts and tried to talk with him concerning the Jewish situation, he was understandably upset, since he too had been "brainwashed" by the pro-Jewish propaganda which is "Standard Operating Procedure" in most of our Protestant churches. He said: "Do you realize that you will alienate yourself with all fundamentalists if you continue to think this way?" The question was not: "Are the facts true!" But that Fundamentalists would be upset with the truth!"

GOOD SPIRITUAL READING BOOKS

THE SHRINE BOOKSTORE in Powers Lake, North Dakota 58540 should have on hand copies of two spiritual classics that I've profited from and which I heartily recommend: THE SOUL OF THE APOSTOLATE by Dom Jean-Baptiste Chautard, O.C.S.O. and INTRODUCTION TO THE DEVOUT LIFE by St. Francis de Sales.

"The care and diligence with which we should attend to our concerns are things very different from solicitude, worry, and anxiety. The angels have care for our salvation and procure it with diligence, yet they do not have solicitude, worry, and anxiety. Care and diligence naturally result from their charity, whereas solicitude and anxiety are utterly incompatible with their felicity. Care and diligence may be accompanied by tranquillity and peace of mind, but not by solicitude and worry, much less anxiety. Be careful and attentive, my Philothea, to all those affairs which God has committed to your care. Since God has confided them to you, He wishes that you have great care over them. If possible, do not have solicitude and worry, that is, do not exert yourself over them with uneasiness, anxiety and forwardness. Do not be worried about them, for all worry disturbs reason and judgment, and prevents us from doing well the very things about which we are worried." --INTRODUCTION TO THE DEVOUT LIFE, IMAGE D 13, page 147.

"As a mother cannot suckle her child except insofar as she feeds herself, so confessors, spiritual directors, preachers, catechists, professors must first of all assimilate the substance with which they are later to feed the children of the Church. Divine truth and love are the elements of this substance. But the interior life alone can transform divine truth and charity in us, to a truly lifegiving nourishment for others.....

A Mysterious Warning From Saint Pantaleon. Is Some Disaster At Hand?

Thousands of persons have been visiting the old Convent of the Incarnation in Madrid, Spain to witness a most impressive phenomenon that has been going on since July 26, 1979. The blood of St. Pantaleon, a martyr of the 4th century, has failed to coagulate after its usual miraculous liquefaction on his feastday.

The saint's blood remained liquid throughout World War I, the Spanish Civil War, and World War II. Only after these catastrophes had ended did it return to its normal dry state.

Fr. Eugene Ayape, the chaplain of the old Convent of the Incarnation, stated: "... According to my observations, it liquifies beyond the feast of the saint when great catastrophes are about to occur. Something is going to happen. I don't know whether it will be in Spain or in some other part of the world. This could well be an announcement."

Whether the current liquefaction signifies a new catastrophe for the world remains to be seen. But the historical record of this phenomenon is impressive enough to make one wonder.

BRITISH LEADER WARNS WEST:General Sir Walter Walker, former NATO commander-in-chief, has written a book examining the communist threat to free societies. The book cover carries the following warning:

"NEVER HAS THE WORLD SITUATION BEEN SO GRAVE AND DANGEROUS SINCE WW II. Events are showing and will continue to prove my repeated warnings about the menance of Russia's massive military might and her aggressive and expansionist intentions have been a modest understatement.

"THE PERIOD 1982-85, which we shall enter less than 2 years from now, MAY PROVE TO BE THE MOST CRUCIAL PHASE OF HISTORY YET EXPERIENCED BY THE WESTERN WORLD.

"It is no exaggeration to say that what is at stake is not only the whole future of the West, but civilization itself and the Christian West as we know it—WHETHER INDEED YOUR CHILDREN AND GRANDCHILDREN WILL LIVE THEIR LIVES AS FREE MEN AND WOMEN, OR FACE THE TRAUMA OF A NEW DARK AGE."(Intelligence Digest World Report, 17 Rodney Rd., Cheltenham, Glos., GL50 1HX, UK)

Daily News Digest reports that some church leaders support terrorists. The following are excerpts from The Crimson Web of Terror, a book by Robert D. Chapman and M. Lester Chapman. Robert Chapman served 27 years with the CIA and is an expert on defensive tactics against terrorism.

Chapman claims "An estimated 2/3 of all Catholic nuns and priests in Latin America are Marxists who support terrorism and insurgency. They advocate what is called the "Liberation Theology'.....(which) has become one of the insurgents' most powerful weapons."

Mexico's Bishop Mendez Arceo has declared, "The Kingdom of Heaven can come about in our day only by Marxism." Chapman says that priests tell the people that, "Marxism is the path to the Kingdom of Heaven. The poor believe it is true because it was told to them by a man of God." LETTERS to the editor

Dear Editor,

I believe the time has come when payment is due for another year's subscription to the Tribune.

My last visit to the Wet Mountain Valley was four years ago. I loved it just as much then as I did the first time I went there as a young bride over 30 years ago. People come and go. Friends move on and somehow contacts discontinue, but the mountains stay the same. Always calling me back, and someday if I am permitted the luxury of choosing my place of abode for my retiring years, I'll go back to that place in the shadows of the Sangre de Cristo range. The valley that's nestled there between the high mountains and the Green Horn range.

It may be in winter when pine boughs are weighted with ice and snow lies deep in the valley, or in summer time when birds are busy building and nestling high in branches over wild flowers that borders streams edge. Where speckled rainbow trout can be seen darting under rocks in the cold, clear waters.

In autumn too, it's my land with quaking aspens flickering golden globes of color all over the country side. Shining yellow in the bright glare of the sun. The rustle and whisper of their movements break the quiet, cool stillness.

After sleeping through long months, spring awakens with an inner urge to suddenly give birth to all growing things. Cattle quietly grazing solemn eyed and peaceful look uninterested at human beings with their puny endeavor to change the way of nature.

Yes; I'll be there Mountains. Someday I'll just pack up and go to the place I want to be. With nostalgia deep inside me I turn the papers pages, I read each item, article, advertisement and school news.

While lookling at the beautiful pictures I feel a tug at my heartstrings. The mountain tops against the sky blue background. White fluffy clouds like cotton, soft, yet holding behind their moving beauty storms and rain and all the changing seasons I have loved so much.

Keep the paper coming please. I need it now to keep up with time. To remember the past. To hope for a chance to be again where the air is cold and clear. To be where it feels good because it feels like home.

Thank You,
Josephine M. Davis

Ed, Carmen and Cindy Dreher from Longmont, Colorado paid a visit to the scenic Wet Mountain Valley last summer. You would have to look far and wide to find as quick-witted, hard-working and devoted a family as they have been at Our Lady of Victory Chapel in Aurora, Colorado.

Always remember to forget
The troubles that passed away,
But never forget to remember
The blessings that come each day.

IF I COULD JUST GET ORGANIZED

There may be nothing wrong with YOU!!??
The way you live, the work you do,
But I can very plainly see
Exactly what IS WRONG WITH ME!!

It isn't that I'm indolent
Or dodging duty by intent,
I work as hard as anyone
And yet I get so little done.

The morning goes, the noon is here,
Before I know the night is near,
And all around me, I regret,
Are things I haven't finished YET.

If I could just get ORGANIZED!!
I often times have realized
Not all that matters is the Man,
The Man must also have a PLAN!!

With YOU there may be NOTHING wrong!?
But here's my trouble right along,
I do the things that don't amount
To very much, of NO account.

They really seem IMPORTANT, though,
And let a lot of matters go.
I nibble this, I nibble that,
But never finish what I'm at.

I work as hard as anyone,
And yet I get so little done,
I'd do so MUCH you'd be SURPRISED,
IF I COULD JUST GET ORGANIZED!!!!!

Late last fall Bill & Doug Bouchard, Jerry Piquette and I hiked into Lily Lake near Mount Blanca.

Father Richard Connelly, a new traditional priest from Idaho, spent several days with your editor in Westcliff in April. He is now working out of St. Jude's Shrine in Stafford, Texas. My sister Jean Davis and her daughter Catherine also came over for a visit that month. Jean and her four children are moving to Westcliffe this summer.
